CHARLES FAIRCLOUGH – A BRIEF SYNOPSIS

Charles Fairclough in the Far East (2018)

Charles Fairclough is an IT and operations director and heads up IT at Faire Sans Dire, a niche organisation. He is also the IT director for various other organisations and companies including T Group including Faire Sans Dire Limited (Company No. 06552657).

In his school days, Charles was involved with a variety of IT and web related businesses. It was at Glyn School in Epsom in his early teens that he started his first IT business selling password recovery tools (which he wrote). Before going to Portsmouth University, he garnered expertise in more complex tasks such as creating custom remote administration tools, undertaking software exploit development and research, performing remote system penetration testing and performing virus/worm analysis.

In 2006 Charles secured a place in Portsmouth University but decided to leave after a couple of years. He had been assured of two firsts in both Bsc Digital Media and Bsc Computing. He entered e-commerce in his third year in academia and graduating later.

Since then Charles has been the founder or co-founder of several e-commerce businesses as well as Faire Sans Dire from 2008 (and being appointed IT Director of Faire Sans Dire Limited in April 2018). In the businesses he founded, Profile Tunnel Limited, was effectively taken over by Faire Sans Dire in 2018. Profile Tunnel Limited provided cutting edge technologies which enabled Faire Sans Dire to gather intelligence from cyberspace in innovative ways when undertaking covert assignments.

In 2012 Charles was seconded from Faire Sans Dire to work with Kroll Ontrack, one of its comp
